business, naked and unsharpened in its service of a greedy gluttony.

Democracy Bruised.

The Democratic bid to move than hold it is broken. With mild conservatism, it not only allows a partisan credit, which belongs to the whole nation, for building and winning the war, but it declares that it is admitted the result of that war, without the least of scandal. And the shorts of the Island, and Aircraft, and shipbuilding and construction, and aircraft plant in preparation are still standing through the Island. Scandal is it is scandal that in the year 1917, the year of supreme sacrifice, when our boys were fighting and dying for $30 a month, and our people were renouncing and sacrificing to buy Liberty bonds, that the United States Steel Corporation made net earnings of $100,000,000, or 20 million dollars more than its total capital stock? What can we call that whole array of war profiteering by a set of the most unscrupulous set of scoundrels who ever fattened out of the necessities and the miseries of a great nation at war? Shall we acknowledge that scandal is too light a word and say with Senator Capper: "If this be not grand larceny in day time, I do not know what else we should call it." Even as the scandal remains, for such profiteering was never prosecuted by the prosecuting attorney general.

Critics That Are Sublime.

"Nor is this all. There are some critics which by their sheer efforts have become sublime. Failure to protect a people against profiteering in time of war might be forgiven, but to break the faith of a whole nation can not be forgiven.

"The Republican party would lead us back to the bondage of Marcus Hanna. Not to be outbid, the Democratic party, through its endorsement of A. Mitchell Palmer, would lead us back to the days of Philip II of Spain, Charles I of England, the unspeakable Metetrnich of Austria, and cause their inquiries, secret police, spies, espionage, agents provocateur, state examiner proceedings, arrests without warrants, private prisons, illegal detentions and administrative justice to supplant the methods provided by the bill of rights which has been the bulwark of Anglo-Saxon freedom for nine centuries. To such depths of evil and perfidy has the party of Thomas Jefferson descended.

"Such are the conditions under which we are in convention assembled. This whole country is shocked by the action of these two major parties. The truth is out at last. Both parties have surrendered unconditionally to privilege and reaction. Thousands are agreed with us today for every man who agreed with us in January. The vast majority of the electorate realize that no matter whether the Republicans or the Democratic party wins, the people lose. The necessity for the abolition of privilege was never so imperative as it is today.

"Therefore, that platform which is submitted as the basis of the deliberations of this convention has a most serious claim to our consideration. Not only is it a short platform, but it is single minded in its devotion to one determination. It declares that the principal cause of the distress of this people is economic in its nature and can be removed only by economic action. Every word in its says the same thing: Abolish economic privilege. A government controlled by privilege can twist any political reform to its own uses. Political reforms must wait until the abuses of privilege are destroyed by the abolition of privilege.

"By destroying monopoly in transportation and the basic industries, all private industries would be placed beyond the possibility of state control. The ensuing campaign would revive the confidence of this entire people in political action directed against economic power. Faith in the ballot would return. Privilege, not force, would dominate a national campaign.

"To raise the cry, to arouse the people, is our solemn responsibility and our sacred duty. Can we do it? Can we come together ourselves? We can and we will if throughout all our deliberations we maintain our conviction that what America needs today is not more laws but more liberty; and that given freedom, the American men and women may safely be trusted to work out their own salvation. That freedom let us insist first, not, and without and can only be given to the American people by the abolition of economic privilege.

Landis Sarcastic at Convicts Pardoning

CHICAGO, Ill., July 22.—Judge Kenneth Mountain Landis, who seemed quite a bit of sympathy for the blindfolded Old Country 27 million dollars which, substantially said company never paid—in a statement addressed from the bench to members of the bar, criticized the action of President Wilson in commuting the sentence of James Dorsey, reputed millionaire cattleman, of Alton, Illinois, from eight years to four.

"I wonder what frame of mind he must have been in to cut such a sentence," the judge said.

Dorsey was convicted of selling 10,000 head of cattle, which he used the funds to subscribe were full blooded Holsteins. When the animals were delivered it developed they were common stock, Judge Landis said.

"I want to make a statement of this case in the bar. This man Dorsey sold about 12,000 head of cattle a year and made about $125,000 a year.

"The indictments charged him with misuse of the funds for the purpose. He advertised through the mails that the cattle were pure bred Holsteins and that the purchasers would be given certificates showing that all the federal and state laws in regard to the sale of full blood cattle had been complied with.

"Dorsey hired an old horse doctor who would sign blank test certificates and other clerks would fill them out. An avalanche of complaints was received about the cattle from Mexico to Alaska.

"Finally he was brought to trial and he was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary. The sentence was affirmed by the court of appeals, but sentenced was stayed a number of times. Finally, through the oversight of some one, Dorsey was placed in the penitentiary."

CHAMPION BOY STOWAWAY MAY YET RIDE CUSHION

NEW YORK, July 22.—After having crossed the ocean five times, hidden behind bales and boxes, Mike O'Sheehy, 11 years old, "champion stowaway," may in a few months travel luxuriously aboard a trans Atlantic liner bound for Europe for a temporary stay to promote his education. This became known when Mrs. Martin C. Garry, who adopted the Irish-English war orphan, master of American troops, said she had asked Ellis Island officials what she would have to do if she wished to take the boy to Europe.

The men and women of the Fourth Federal Reserve District (Texas and parts of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Louisiana) have saved more than $100,000,000 by investing in U.S. War Savings Stamps which bear 4½ percent, compounded quarterly.

By saving their nickels and dimes and exchanging them at the bank or postoffice for Third, Fourth and War Savings Stamps, the school children of the Fourth District have saved more than $15,000,000. The school children of Texas alone have saved $12,000,000 this way.

War Savings stamps help men, women and children to save and all ahead. They pay a good rate of compound interest, are issued in large and small amounts. For building up a personal safety savings fund they are ideal. Buy one or more W. S. S. every pay day and see your savings grow. They can be had at the post office or bank.

HOW FAYETTE COUNTY PEOPLE ARE SAVING

Fayette County, Texas, is a community of homes and large families. Its inhabitants are proving that it is also a community of thrift, saving and safe investment and disproving the theory that large families are an obstacle to saving. These facts are clearly shown by reports to the Savings Division of the Treasury from residents of foreign birth and extraction who have guided themselves to save systematically a certain sum before the end of this year and invest it in government securities.

John Black, with 22 members in his family, heads the list with a glidge of $300 between now and Dec. 31. Josef Hryk and J. Raulik each responsible for the support and happiness of 7 children and P. L. Herk with 4 in his family have each glidge themselves to buy $100 worth of War Savings Stamps before the new year. Josef Slany has a household of 16, but he declared himself both able and willing to save and invest a like amount.

In the 25th column are Frank Husak, John Mihal and John Mihal Jr., all with families, while John J. Nork with 3 and J. Horvick with 11 dependent upon them are going to save $10 each. What are you going to save?

No Profiteering in Coal in New Mexico

The investigation of the prices charged for coal, begun by the United States attorney's office at Albuquerque at the direction of Attorney General Palmer, so far has not brought to light any evidence of profiteering at any place in the state, said United States Attorney Sumner Burkhardt.

The investigation has not been completed. Mr. Burkhardt said that the prices charged at the mines at Madrid and Gallego had been found to be within the fuel administration limits. He had not received any report from the Dawson field so far.

The probe will be carried into every town in the state, Burkhardt said, as the attorney general's instructions called for investigation of the retail dealers' prices as well as mine prices. The probe has been finished in Albuquerque, and no profiteering was unearthed on the part of retail dealers.
